JESUS. |Written for the Herald. |

Jesus was a man of sorrow,

Jesus was a man of grief;
Jesus was despised by many,
Yet he knew not unbelief.
As a lamb unto the slaughter
Was our lovely Saviour led,

As a sheep before Larshearers, Dumb—his precious blood to shed.

But our Saviour knew no sin en they led him to Galgotha There upon the cross to nail; here the Lamb of God was fastened, Then was rent the temple vail.

All this sorrow did he suffer, And his life did even give,

And they mocked and spit upon him! How that braye heart throbs within! He was tempted like as we are,

By his death that we might live. Though your sins should be as scarlet,
